

I object to any changes in the do not call list! I am a shift worker, and I have been able to sleep without interruption ever since I added my phone number to the list. The way I see it, any company that starts calling me will not get any business anyway, because there is NO chance that I would EVER give business to a company that feels the need to go to court for the right to bother me at home when I specifically asked to be left alone!! If any company wins this right, I would like to have the phone numbers of all of their top managers listed publicly, so that I can call them in the middle of the night and wake them for no reason!! why should they get a good nights rest when they want to deprive me of my sleep?

Thank you for listening.
